Further to my previous email, please see the additional NYCC officer comments on Broadband below:

In selecting sites it will be important to take into account the capability of connecting broadband infrastructure. All new sites (domestic and commercial) should enable superfast broadband to be 'built in'. BT has a process which developers use to work up the solution for a new site. Detailed advice is available via their web site: <https://www.openreach.co.uk/orpa/home/contactus/connectingyourdevelopment/developnetwork.do>
